Fresh off their collab with Nike, Japanese selectors Mighty Crown hook up with L.A.-based independent shoe company Clae on their next project. Mighty Crown takes Clae's McQueen model and dresses it up in grey tweed with hits of black suede — they even managed to throw in red and green contrast stitching for that extra flair. This release is limited to 300 pairs and is available now from mightycrown-store.com. [via Mighty Crown]
